Reasons of Allowance

The Status of Claims

Claim 46 is pending.

Claim 46 has been allowed.

I. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

- The close prior art is Dymicky (Organic Preparations and Procedure International , 1983, 15(4), p.233-238).

Dymicky teaches a method of preparing maleic anhydride and chlorosuccinic anhydride by reacting fumaric acid with ClCOCOCl.

However, the instant invention differs from the prior art in that the claimed process is involved with aspartic acid as the starting material to be used to produce chlorosuccinic acid , which is further treated with acetic anhydride so as to obtain the claimed chlorosuccinic anhydride compound , unlike the prior art process which employs fumaric acid as the starting material to be reacted with ClCOCOCl so as to obtain chlorosuccinic anhydride. Therefore, they are completely different processes to each other because their corresponding reactants and reagents are very different.

In addition, unless all limitations of the claims are met, there is no prior art rejection. See In re Zurko 59 USPQ 2d 1690 (Fed Cir. 1991) and In re Lee, 61 USPQ 1430 (Fed Cir. 1991).

Therefore, the claimed invention would not have been obvious to the person with an ordinary skill in the art .
